The honey bee is the only insect that produces food eaten by man. A honey bee can fly for up to six miles, and as fast as 15 miles per hour, hence it would have to fly around 90,000 miles – three times around the globe – to make one pound of honey.

Did You Know
 The fine hairs on bee's legs help them pick up pollen. The tiny pollen particles cling to the hairs, making them easy to extract from flowers and preventing them from falling off during flight.
